Over 2,000 people attended the opening and everyone seemed pleased with the store and stock of goods. The remarks of the many customers were gratifying to the proprietors. This is a new store of its kind in Barre, styled after the large city stores. Each demetment is under a different manager, who will know his line of goods and study the business assigned to him. It is the intention of this new firm to make this store a modern, up-to-date establishment. The store is under the management of Harry A. and S. J. Segel, both of whom are well known to the
